ENGLISH & MEDIA STUDIES

HUMAN DIGNITY

Central to the study of English and Media Studies is the consideration of different human experiences and voices with a focus on social justice.

English studies encompass diverse texts reflecting human dignity and experiences, fostering empathy for marginalised voices. Critical analysis examines writers' intentions across contexts, while media representation enhances social justice themes like those in "A Christmas Carol" and "An Inspector Calls." Students develop communication skills emphasising respect, empathy, listening, and empowerment of younger voices.
